

2010 National Assessment and Research Conference

September 10 – 11, 2010

Holiday Inn Select Memphis Airport
Memphis, Tennessee

CALL FOR PROGRAM PROPOSALS

The Program Committee for the Association for Assessment in Counseling and Education's (AAACE) "2010 National Assessment Conference" invites members, colleagues, students, and other interested assessment specialists to submit proposals for stimulating and creative assessment and evaluation-related presentations in counseling and education. Proposals related to current and futuristic practice, diagnosis, treatment, creative integration of technology, and assessment, research, and evaluation methods in counseling or educational practice are especially encouraged. Topics of general interest to assessment specialists and professional counselors are also welcome.

A variety of session formats are available for you to choose from including: poster sessions, 30-minute content sessions, 60-minute content sessions, or 90-minute special interest sessions. In addition, multiple submissions are encouraged! To submit a proposal, complete the attached program proposal form and e-mail it as a MS Word document to Dr. Rick Balkin at Richard.Balkin@tamucc.edu. The program application deadline is July 1, 2010 and program decisions will be made by July 17, 2010. Please note that all presenters must register for the conference for their names to be included in the program.

AAACE brings together professionals from across the diverse education and counseling fields who have a special interest in improving test use, decision making and technology. Our mission is to promote and recognize scholarship, professionalism, leadership, and excellence in the development and use of assessment and diagnostic techniques in counseling and educational settings. Our website is located at <http://www.theaaceonline.com>.
